everything they need and want. To look at the world economically, we can focus on the decisions that people make. At its core, economics is the study of how people choose to use their limited resources. Because people act individually, in groups (such as businesses), and through governments, economists

In the United States, some populations suffer from far greater disparities in health than others. Those disparities are caused not only by fundamental differences in health status across segments of the population, but also because of inequities in factors that impact health status, so-called determinants of health. Only part of an individual's health status depends on his or her behavior and choice;
