Sometimes, the space police is introduced to the plot unexpectedly, especially if it takes place on a planet that is yet to discover other space-faring civilizations (read: Present Day Earth). In this case, the space police, while preferring to not interfere with local affairs, intervenes as a sudden external force in matters that they deem to have interplanetary if not interstellar consequences.

Police say the arrested militants had a history of links with the Pakistani Taliban but were now allegedly acting as mercenaries and receiving instructions from someone in neighboring Afghanistan.

It's the 25th Century, and the American President has taken over the world. Meanwhile... after a cleaner unplugged his cryogenic freezing machine by accident, Detective Inspector Capstan wakes up to find that he's been in a state of suspended animation for over four hundred years. As he's forced to adjust to life in the future he finds himself reinstated as a policeman, and together with the great great great great grandson of his former subordinate, Sergeant Dewbush, he's put on the case of a missing cow. This, the first in the brand new Space Police series, is a hilariously funny Sci Fi space comedy that's just perfect for fans of Douglas Adams Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy, Terry Pratchett, and the Space Team books. WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING ABOUT DAVID BLAKE'S WORK "Absurd comedy of the style Douglas Adams used to grace us with has been in short supply since he left for what has been, I must say, an unreasonably long tea time. Though many have attempted to fill in during his absence, this work comes closer than anything I've since read without sounding like it's specifically trying to fill those sweaty, beer-soaked loafers." Clifford Hall, Amazon.com "This has all the characteristics to make it a cult classic and I can't wait to start the follow ups." Read it Ray, Amazon.co.uk "Funny, quirky, absurd, and silly and altogether BRILLIANT." Ldub, Amazon.com "Just read it, honestly, its great. Odd. But great." ALT31, Amazon.co.uk "Very funny, unpredictable, good pace. I'm now reading his second book and so far just as good and just as unpredictable. If you have a sense of humour and want to be amused and entertained this is the writer for you." Amazon Customer, Amazon.co.uk "What an amazing book - I loved it! It really is laugh out, and was a most hilarious read - great fun! Love Becky, and enjoyed all her exploits - poor Cat Spam! More like this one please David Blake, and very well done. One of the funniest and most entertaining reads I've been lucky enough to find in ages." Inga Pooler, Amazon.com "Tom Sharpe you ain't David, different you are. Keep it up." Hugh, Amazon.co.uk "Funny, Flirty, Frantic and Ferocious: A fast read that will almost certainly have you laughing out loud! It's witty, sarcastic, politically incorrect and sexy in a hysterically funny way!!!! You are left wondering what in the world our crazy heroine will get up to next!!!! It's just a sheer blast of fun and solid laughs!!!!" JRTLVR, Amazon.com "Fantastically funny, loved every page." Mark Anderson, Amazon.co.uk "I was laughing out loud within the first 5 minutes. The humor is extremely reminiscent of John Cleese in his best era. Absolutely ludicrous situations in fun settings poking humor at established institutions. Terrifically funny much of the way. Occasionally lost the perspective of what this story was about because there were so many odd bits and characters, many of which were not fully developed or fleshed out, but worth the read. Bought another and expecting/hoping to laugh!"Georgia Brousseau, Amazon.com

You Human: The Leander Chronicle is the dark core, the gravitational mass of the quintet, towards the unMaking of Heaven. Within You Human genetic manipulation and genocide will be encountered, sexual obsession/gratification and the nature of love will be explored. You Human is the book towards which the first two books, Balant and Happiness, led; and spinning off from its gravitational mass will be the final two books, Not Now: Death, Dreams and Reasons for Living and finally the unMaking of Heaven.

* A Standalone Short Story with No Cliffhanger! * When I married Andrew many years ago, I thought nothing would come in between. I thought I would spend the rest of my life with him. But then a terminal illness took him and broke my heart. I spent the years after his death pouring my heart and all my strength into my work, which made me a multi-awarded US Space Police Officer by the year 2045. That was also the year that I tried to open up my heart again to someone. I thought my police partner and boyfriend Kent and I would build something great together. But when we were sent to Planet Zil for a special mission, destiny came into play. We were torn apart and I found myself abducted by one of the enemies – a genetically engineered human soldier who happened to be my late husband. As we spent time together, all my feelings resurfaced once again. Here I was with the man I had exchanged "I Do"s with, yearning to have another chance to start anew yet uncertain if he was still the same man deep inside underneath the monster he'd been made to be. Should I escape as soon as I had the chance, and finish off my mission with Kent? Or would my love conquer everything this second time around? --- Privacy is a growing concern in the United States and around the world. The spread of the Internet and the seemingly boundaryless options for collecting, saving, sharing, and comparing information trigger consumer worries. Online practices of business and government agencies may present new ways to compromise privacy, and e-commerce and technologies that make a wide range of personal information available to anyone with a Web browser only begin to hint at the possibilities for inappropriate or unwarranted intrusion into our personal lives. Engaging Privacy and Information Technology in a Digital Age presents a comprehensive and multidisciplinary examination of privacy in the information age. It explores such important concepts as how the threats to privacy evolving, how can privacy be protected and how society can balance the interests of individuals, businesses and government in ways that promote privacy reasonably and effectively? This book seeks to raise awareness of the web of connectedness among the actions one takes and the privacy policies that are enacted, and provides a variety of tools and concepts with which debates over privacy can be more fruitfully engaged. Engaging Privacy and Information Technology in a Digital Age focuses on three major components affecting notions, perceptions, and expectations of privacy: technological change, societal shifts, and circumstantial discontinuities. This book will be of special interest to anyone interested in understanding why privacy issues are often so intractable.

Gerd Maximovic is one of the highest acclaimed SF-Writers of Germany today. In this volume, you find some of his finest stories, including the winner of the European SF Award, "The Red Crystal Planet". His stories have been published in Playboy and Omni and in a lot of anthologies as well as in six of his collections. The title story, "The Thing Which Fell From the Heavens", has already met enthusiastic readers. In this story a monster is penetrating into Medieval Old Germany, causing havoc and much surprise and wonder. Or take "Rachel and Georges", where men and women can swap bodies, and then look what may happen... In other stories the well-known Frankenstein creature as well as Jack the Ripper are working. All of these characters are different from what you know about them till now. All of these stories are of high literary quality, but always entertaining, even thrilling. You don't like to get bored? Neither does the author. Please mind, these stories are not only sheer entertainment, but in all of them you find a lot to think about. Stephen Potts on one of the author's German collections: "An earnest, entertaining, often fascinating volume, deserving English translation.

It is mid 21st century. Alex, a young Greek astronomer is leading a research team assigned to examine unexplored areas of the solar system in search of possible signs of life. After dedicating much time and effort they come up with some positive results on IO, the mysterious moon of Jupiter. To further investigate the discovery, a highly qualified team of scientist are summoned and sent on this mission to IO. When they stop on the way of this journey the team does not have the slightest idea what theyre going to witness. Theyre about to unveil secrets that could lead the source of the unknown yet quire astonishingly familiar signs of life to another planet in the system.
